

A week-long workshop on

Frontiers of Research in Indian Economy:
Emerging Issues, Theoretical Approaches, Data and Methods

Organised by
Institute of Development Studies Kolkata (IDSK) &
Indira Gandhi Institute of Development Research, Mumbai (IGIDR)

About the workshop: Experienced faculty from IGIDR and IDSK will take up select research areas in the Indian economy and introduce the sophisticated craft of research, delving deep into the analytical approaches, data-base issues, appropriate quantitative methods, and the debates around all this.

Objective: To build research capacity among young scholars working on Indian economic issues.

Date and venue: June 19-23, IDSK, DD27/D Salt Lake, Sector-1, Kolkata - 700064

Target participants: PhD scholars in economics and young faculty members in colleges and universities. A maximum of 30 participants will be selected on the basis of academic qualification and the statement of purpose.

Registration fee: Rs 1000 (to be paid after selection)

How to apply: Application in plain paper mentioning name, address, e-mail, contact number, academic qualification (starting from the latest degree, detailed list of degrees obtained, year of passing, marks/grade and division/class), awards, current occupation with details, research publications (if any), and a statement of purpose in 500 words mentioning research interests and expected gain from attending the workshop should be sent to Professor Indrani Chakraborty, Institute of Development Studies Kolkata, DD 27/D Salt Lake, Sector-1, Kolkata – 700064, or by e-mail to indrani.c61@gmail.com .

Accommodation and other details: Lunch and tea will be served at the venue and modest accommodation will be provided to a limited number of outstation participants on sharing basis. No travel support will be given to the participants.

Last date of application: May 15, 2017